PLACES TO GO, THINGS TO SEE...

WHAT... The Stratford, an ultra-chic new hotel with a Scandi vibe.

WHERE... Another east London address, this one sitting beside Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park.

WHY... Designed by Space Copenhagen, this contemporary property offers serene, sky-high living and a restaurant from the former chef at Chiltern Firehouse. It's all part of the Manhattan Loft Gardens complex, so, if you fall head over heels for the place, you could splash out on one of the development's airy apartments and enjoy those bird's-eye views for years to come.

WHAT... A flagship store for legendary camera brand Leica.

WHERE... In excellent company on Mayfair's Duke Street.

WHY... Guaranteed to delight the capital's photography buffs, this new multidisciplinary destination includes a retail space carrying the brand's full line of products (with experts on hands to advise) and the UK's first Leica Gallery, which will showcase a range of established and up-and-coming artistic talents.

eat

WHAT... The best baked goods in London town at The Dusty Knuckle. WHERE... Curiously placed in a car park at the end of Abbot Street, Dalston. WHY... Get your fix of all things sourdough and rye at this popular east London bakery. There's also now a café, serving a salivating array of buns, brioches and savoury treats. For those of you who want to recreate the experience at home, the bakery offers masterclasses in breadmaking, ranging from breakfast pastries to intro courses for beginners.
